

RED HAW STATE PARK

24550 US Hwy 34, Chariton, IA 50049

Welcome to Red Haw State Park. The quiet, 649-acre park first opened to the public in 1939. Visitors are inspired by its beauty and tranquility. We hope your visit is an enjoyable one spent fishing, hiking, camping, swimming, picnicking, or as a long-time frequenter of Red Haw once said, “just lazing away beautiful days.”

PARK AMENITIES/POINTS OF INTEREST/THINGS TO DO

Red Haw’s 70-acre lake has long been known as a premier pan-fishing destination, especially for large bluegill. A lake renovation project in 2002 has helped to continue this tradition with excellent catches reported of bluegill, crappie, red ear sunfish, channel catfish and largemouth bass. Several fishing jetties and numerous shoreline accesses make for easy bank fishing. Two boat ramps provide access for boaters.

Campers can enjoy a heavily shaded campground with electric sites, a playground and modern rest rooms and shower facilities. A boat ramp is nearby and trail accesses connect to several picnic areas and the beach.

A 4-mile marked grass trail hugs the lake through the timbered park and provides access on the south to an adjacent 229-acre wildlife management area with large parcels of reconstructed prairie. An upper trail east of the lake and short trails elsewhere provide exploratory options for hikers. The east and south trail system traverses undeveloped areas and hikers may be able to catch a glimpse of the numerous wildlife species in the park.

Red Haw’s beach is a popular area for swimming, sun bathing and volley ball. Five open shelters may be reserved for special occasions or used for free on a first-come, first-served basis. The historic CCC-built stone shelter with its large fireplace is especially popular for weddings and other large gatherings and available to reserve online. Red Haw’s lake lies on three sides, providing nearby fishing and placid views.

SPECIAL PARK RULES

Only electric trolling motors may be operated on the lake. Pick up the rules/regulations booklet for more information on general park rules.
