Well Search Application Error

An error occurred with the well search application on January 13th, 2010. This error could have resulted in certain well types within 1000 feet of the LUST site not showing up in the well search report. Because of this error, please re-run any well searches that were run from 1/13/2010 through the week of September 13 - 17, 2010 when the application was shut down. If you have concerns that a report that you have all ready submitted may have an inaccurate well search, please notify the project manager. We apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused you.
