

GREEN VALLEY STATE PARK 1480 130th St, Creston, IA 50801

Welcome to Green Valley State Park. Green Valley is the base camp for anglers trying their luck at four area lakes (Three Mile, Twelve Mile, Summit Lake and Green Valley Lake), all located within 15 miles of each other. Whether you are here to fish, camp, swim or just relax, we hope you enjoy your stay.

PARK AMENITIES/POINTS OF INTEREST/THINGS TO DO

Renovated in 2009, the large campground awaits overnight guests along with three popular camping cabins. A new playground was also added to the campground during the renovation.

The lake fishery was renovated in 2008 to eliminate some problem species. Largemouth bass, bluegill, crappie and channel catfish have all been restocked and are growing rapidly. Walleyes were stocked in 2010.

A number of fishing jetties, two universally accessible fishing piers and four boat ramps make access to Green Valley's 390-acre lake very convenient. A section of shoreline is designated as 24-hour fishing access and is highlighted on the map found on the reverse side.

A 10-mile trail will take you completely around the lake. The trail is a combination of concrete, grass, crushed rock, and existing roadways and is open to hikers and bicyclists. A 3.5-mile section was paved in 2015, starting in the campground and ending near the Green Valley Lake Dam. The paved trail connects with 3-miles of hard surface trails south of the lake. This trail passes through DNR-managed Mitchell Marsh, enters Creston next to Southwestern Community College, and continues south through town to McKinley City Park.

The 6.5-mile grass multi-purpose trail section provides visitors excellent opportunities to investigate remote areas of the 1,060-acre park. The trail takes you through a variety of habitats, from wetland areas around the fringes of the lake, to woodlands and remnants of native prairie. Depending on season and time of day, keen observers may see a variety of wildlife residing in these various habitats.
