Accessible facilities can be found in many areas, with efforts underway to remove barriers and provide additional accessible opportunities. Visitors are encouraged to contact park staff directly prior to scheduling outings to determine if facilities are adequate to meet an individual's or group's accessibility needs, as staff are the best source of information on current conditions.

Certain motorized vehicles may be approved for use in specific areas in state parks and recreation areas by individuals with physical disabilities, according to restrictions set out in IAC Chapter 61.7(8)b, so they might enjoy such recreational opportunities as are available to others.
