

WAPSIPINICON STATE PARK

21301 County Rd, E-34, Anamosa, IA 52205

Welcome to Wapsipinicon State Park. In 1921, caring citizens gathered to save this scenic timbered area across the river from the town of Anamosa. The group purchased approximately 180 acres of land and, in turn, presented it to the State of Iowa, making Wapsipinicon one of the first parks given as a gift. Prisoners from Anamosa State Penitentiary were used to construct the roads and bridges throughout the park. Through the years, the park has grown to approximately 400 acres, with steep limestone bluffs and rolling hills waiting for you to explore.

PARK AMENITIES/POINTS OF INTEREST/THINGS TO DO

A trip to Wapsipinicon isn't complete without visiting bowl-shaped Horse Thief Cave. The excitement of years past exists in the legend of the two horse thieves who, as the story goes, used the cave for their camp. Prior to use by these horse thieves, the cave was apparently occupied as a shelter by prehistoric American Indian cultures. While improving the entrance to the cave, in 1923, workers found the remains of nine human skeletons dating to the Archaic Period 4,000 years ago. In Ice Cave, visitors can crawl back into cool temperatures during the summer's heat. There is no ice in the cave; it gets its name from the cool air in the cave as you enter it.

The Wapsi River has long been famous for its channel and flathead catfish, crappies, bullheads and smallmouth bass, especially below the dam near the park entrance. Dutch Creek meanders through the park and empties into the Wapsi.

The shaded campground has several campsites (half with electrical hookups), modern rest rooms and showers. There are two lodges ideal for group events such as wedding receptions and family reunions. The Boy Scout Lodge and the Rotary lodge may be reserved online, as well as two open shelters in the park.

Don't forget your golf clubs. There is a nine-hole golf course within the park boundaries, maintained by the Wapsipinicon Country Club. For information, call 319.462.3930.

The newest addition to the park has its own unique history laid out on an informational kiosk in the west side parking area. This three-span bowstring arch bridge is on the National Registry of Historical Places and is the last one in Iowa. With this historic bridge and the rest of Wapsipinicon's unique history, the park is now on the National Register of Historic Places.

SPECIAL PARK RULES

About 120 acres, on the south edge of the park, are open to public hunting. Pick up the rules/regulations booklet for more information on general park rules.

LOCAL EVENTS/ATTRACTIONS

Over the Fourth of July weekend the Buffalo Fork Settlers set up a pre-1840 rendezvous encampment in the park for the public to learn what life was like during this time period. The City of Anamosa has many events scheduled throughout the summer and fall; visit www.anamosachamber.org to learn more about these and other events in the area. While in town, visit the State Penitentiary Museum showcasing the history of Iowa's largest maximum security prison. And stop by the National Motorcycle Museum with more than 200 vintage and antique motorcycles on display.
